

HANDCART "VETS" ARE IN SESSION

Notable Gathering Today at the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Hall.

EXPERIENCES 50 YEARS AGO.

They Were Recounted by the Brave
Men and Women Who Passed
Through Many Trials.

The Fourteenth ward assembly hall is the scene today of a most lively gathering, for there were assembled, both forenoon and afternoon, handcart veterans and their descendants to the number of several hundred. Although the principal participants in the reunion are gray-haired and bent in form, contentment and happiness beamed from every face, and one not conversant with the history of the trials and hardships through which the veterans had passed, would have supposed that a once joyous happening was being celebrated anew. On the contrary, the happy men and women who met today passed through experiences 50 years ago that tried their very souls, and that so many of them still survive is little short of marvellous.

TEN COMPANIES.

In all, ten companies of handcarts crossed the plains, beginning in 1856 and ending in the early 'sixties. When the roll of the companies was called today it was found that 179 persons were in the room who had pulled and pushed carts containing all their earthly belongings from the Missouri river to Salt Lake valley, a distance of more than a thousand miles. The numbers arising when their respective company was called were as follows: Captain Elsworth's, 23; D. D. McArthur's, 11; Captain Bunkers', 16; Captain J. G. Willie's, 24; Captains Martin and Teller's, 41; Captain Christiansen's, 13; Captain Evans', 12; Captain Rowley's, 19; Captain Robinson's, 18; Captain Stoddard's, 1. Of the rescuers, men who risked their lives to succor and save the people of the handcart brigades, 12 responded to roll call, while John Hunt's company of wagon train that also helped to rescue the beleaguered travelers was represented by seven men.

CHEER AND GOOD FEELING.

As before stated, today's meetings were characterized by the utmost cheer and good feeling. Every one was glad to meet everybody else, and the handshakes and expressions of love and friendship were heartfelt, and in many instances accompanied by tears of joy. Of the sorrows and privations of the past no word was heard, and only the memories of things pleasant were recalled.

The faces of the men of the handcart brigades who yet survive show that these men were wrought of the stuff from which heroes are made, while nobler women never existed than those found among the participants of today's reunion. Nobleness and purity were depicted on every feature, and when it was considered what they had suffered through the long years of their earth's pilgrimage, one could see that they had been refined as in a furnace.

YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT.

And in the multitude, too, there were a large number of young persons, descendants of the veterans of the handcart brigades—young men and young women who were not ashamed of either their ancestors or their accomplishments, and the youths were wrought to a high pitch of enthusiasm as they beheld the glad faces and listened to the stirring songs of men and women who had suffered so comparatively few hardships and been called upon to suffer.

EXPRESSIONS HEARD.

"Among the throng could be heard such expressions as these: "I haven't forgot it, and I guess I never will." "Ah, but the blessings that followed were worth all the costly experience of getting them." "I would do the same thing over again, and do it gladly." etc. Chairman S. J. Jones, of the committee on arrangements, and his co-laborer, Thomas Dobson, were the head and front of the gathering. Every act of the latter was fraught with wit and humor, and he was constantly gathering "buffalo chips," carrying water or building campfires. Every member of the committee worked like a Trojan, and the event was a success from the very first.

AN INFORMAL AFFAIR.

The forenoon meeting was quite informal, it being the intention to devote the time to renewing old acquaintances and forming new ones. George Harrison of Utah was choir leader, and he wielded the baton with no mean skill. The songs sung were those that the men and women of the handcart brigades has sung as they trudged over hill and down vale by day and around the campfires by night. No hymn books were necessary, for the singers knew every word and note, and the halls resounded with the music of the old time favorites, "Come, Come Ye Saints," "Come Let Us Anew," and last, but not least, the hand-cart song, the chorus of which reads: "For some must push, and some must pull. As we go marching up the hill," etc.

MUSIC AND SPEECHES.

It was arranged that the afternoon

HEWLETT'S
THREE CROWN
TEA

If you are lover of good PURE Tea ask your grocer for Hewlett's meeting, commencing at 2 o'clock, should be devoted to speech-making, the places in the building were assigned where the respective companies could meet during recess to name a person to make a ten minutes speech as a representative of his company. Musical selections were arranged to intersperse the addresses. Refreshments followed the informal meeting, tables being set in the annex of the meetinghouse for the accommodation of 500 or more persons.

There is nothing that takes away the beautiful, womanly charms like a plodding, stooped, awkward carriage. There is absolutely no excuse for that as long as Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is made. Tea or Tablets, 55 cents. Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main St.

NECK BROKEN: STILL LIVES.

Peculiar Accident That Befell Valison Tanner Yesterday.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Oct. 4.—Valison Tanner, aged 52 years, is lying at the Ogden general hospital with a broken neck. The accident happened yesterday afternoon and Mr. Tanner was brought to Ogden today and an operation was performed by Drs. E. L. and E. C. Rich and Dr. Joyce. Tanner is still alive and the physicians have hopes of his final recovery.

Tanner was on a load of hay, and a sudden jerk by the team caused the man to fall. He struck squarely on his head. His neck was broken and the bones badly smashed. Upon admission at this city he was completely paralyzed from the neck down, but after the physicians operated upon him, removing some of the bones and working with the spinal cord, feeling began to return. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon at Grouse Creek. The injured man is now encased in a plaster cast.

LATE LOCALS.

Bank Clearing—Today's local bank clearings amounted to $760,891.03 as against $795,859.10 for the same day last year.

Delegates to Meet—The Third precinct delegates to the Republican county convention will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Relief society hall at the corner of Second North and Second West street for the purpose of organizing for the convention.

Smith Is Appointed—Gov. Cutler today appointed Benner X. Smith as a member of the state board of corrections to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge J. E. Erick who was recently appointed as justice of the supreme court.

The Beet Crop—George Austin, agricultural superintendent of the Utah Sugar company is down from Garland where he says the beet crop is every day exceeding the estimates. He speaks highly of the improved methods of the farmers in taking care of their beets, especially in putting them in piles and guarding them from the frost. He says they reach the factory in excellent condition and the plant is running at its full capacity every 24 hours.

Funeral of Mrs. Russell—The funeral of Mrs. Joseph J. Russell was held in the Twelfth ward meeting-house, Bishop Williams presiding. The ward quartet rendered sweet music appropriate to the occasion. The beautiful hymn, "O My Father," which had always been esteemed by the deceased, was beautifully rendered by Elder Albert Sears, Bishop Williams and Elders Hardy and Sears and Patriarch John Smith were the speakers. Each in his turn eulogized the noble character, the amiable disposition of Mrs. Russell, her devotion, zeal and faithfulness to the gospel of Christ. The casket was covered with many beautiful floral tributes. Interment was in the City cemetery.
